I got another message for you. Anwar Aulaqi called. He said he'd talked with you after 9/11. He is currently out of the country and can be reached at the following e-mail address:

al_aulaqi@yahoo.com
From:
To: Anwar Aulaqi
Subject: Anwar Aulaqi

FYI: I just got a call from [redacted] at FBIHQ. Apparently the 9/11 Commission is interested in interviewing Anwar Aulaqi and some members are enroute to Yemen to try and do that. Coincidently I got an e-mail from [redacted] about a week ago... seems that Anwar had called and left her a voice message which basically reminded her that she had interviewed him and told [redacted] what his e-mail address was.

I was interviewed by the 9/11 Commission on 10/16 about Aulaqi and I told them about this voice mail from Aulaqi to [redacted]. They were obviously interested but made no requests for assistance in setting up their potential interview with Aulaqi. According to [redacted] the 9/11 Commission that is enroute to Yemen is now trying to figure out how they're going to arrange the interview of Aulaqi once they get there.

I was advised by [redacted] that FBIHQ was going to pass on Aulaqi's e-mail address to the 9/11 commission; I believe the Commission is going to contact Aulaqi via e-mail. I'm sure I'll here more about this, I'll keep you posted.

As you are aware, a matter popped up today regarding Anwar Aulaqi. Aulaqi is the subject of a closed FBI case. He left the U.S. under some sort of cloud, i.e., he was in some sort of hot water relating to a prostitution fiasco in the D.C. area. The Case Agent (WFO) closed the case after an exhaustive effort to ascertain if Aulaqi had a viable connection to the hijackers, etc.

Several weeks ago, SA received a vague message on her office (?) voice mail from a caller who identified himself as Aulaqi. SA had interviewed Aulaqi several years ago, and SA presumes Aulaqi holds her in high regard and/or trust. The caller simply left the message (words to the effect), "This is Anwar, you interviewed me after 9/11, here's my email address: al_aulaqi@yahoo.com." Given the fact that is assigned to another matter, and was out of pocket, the voicemail was not a factor until several days ago. In any event, Aulaqi's email (assumption) has not received a reply from the FBI because a plan or formula has not been devised. In fact, planned to reply to the email possibly on Monday.

Informed me today that the aforementioned email matter may become "an issue" with suggested further that implied the FBI could have thus arranged their interview with Aulaqi, and so

Persuaded requested Aulaqi's email address as left on voicemail. In the spirit of cooperation I provided Aulaqi's email address to Assuming the email address was correct, and that the caller was actually Aulaqi, then the only possible thing may request this weekend is for us to intercept if Aulaqi rejects the Commission interview effort, weekend contact should such a request arise. Moreover, if they make such a request.

Yemen temporary legal was contacted regarding this matter.

So, there you have it. It was inferred make make an issue out of the voicemail/email matter when he returns, but we shall see.

Thanks.

I was astonished by some of the talk circulating in the media about me. I was even more surprised to know that the congressional report on Sep 11 had alluded to me as being a "spiritual adviser" to the hijackers. The Guardian newspaper in the UK mentioned that the US authorities are looking for me in the UK while Time magazine mentions that they are looking for me in Yemen. Well in both countries I could be easily accessed. Even though I really have nothing more to say than what I did in our previous meetings I just wanted to let you know that I am around and available. I am amazed at how absurd the media could be and I hope that the US authorities know better and realize that what was mentioned about me was nothing but lies.

Thank you

Anwar

Hello Anwar,
Thank you for replying to my e-mail.

As a matter of fact, we have been looking for you. The person who would like to speak with you is [REDacted]. You can call him collect. I will get you his e-mail. Until then, please feel free to e-mail me at this address. There are a lot of questions and matters that need to be straightened out and I believe of a great benefit for you to speak with [REDacted]. I believe you may have more to say than what you and I discussed at our earlier meetings, judging from your e-mail. It also did not look good that you left the country so rapidly. [REDacted] would like to hear your side of the story. We look forward to hearing from you.

Hey there,
I am out of town with work until 11/15. Why don't you go ahead and contact him and that will take me out of the middle. Thanks.

I set up a hotmail acct: 1/04 9:37 AM >>> to communicate with Aulaqi.

Sounds like you made Aulaqi aware that I wanted to talk to him. Do you want to send him another message which includes my e-mail acct. or would you prefer that I go ahead and make contact with him?
My name is _______ I work with _______ in D.C. After talking with _______ about your recent contact with her, I wanted to let you know that I am the person in our office most familiar with your situation. It's my belief that we could both benefit from having a private conversation with each other. This conversation should be in person, between me and you. Please consider this and let me know how you feel about the idea. We can discuss further where to meet, when to meet, etc. If you don't want to travel back to the D.C. area we can meet somewhere else.

Perhaps we can talk on the telephone to work out the details of a meeting. My number in DC is _______ this is my direct line and I have secure voice mail if you need to leave a message.
