1. RC Recognizing that the terrorist threat to U.S. personnel, facilities and weapons worldwide is real and growing, DIA must expand intelligence production on terrorism and tailor its T/CT program to best meet this threat. In deciding how this Agency can best perform its mission of providing T/CT support to OSD, JCS, the U&S Commands and national level activities, I have had the benefit of a number of studies concerned with the manner in which DIA can best accomplish its T/CT mission. These studies took note of the fact that the primary Executive Branch T/CT concern currently involves the protection of U.S. interests from terrorist attacks; identified the multiple DIA elements legitimately involved in T/CT support; and found the coordination process on T/CT matters to be less than satisfactory. In addition, I have felt that a need exists for a DIA Office of Primary Interest (OPI) on T/CT matters. Such designation would enable me to go to one source to determine the status of any, or all, of DIA's T/CT related actions at any given point in time. Such action also will enhance management direction and control of DIA's T/CT program.

2. RC Accordingly, I hereby designate the [redacted] as the OPI for terrorism intelligence and security matters. All T/CT related actions will henceforth be coordinated with.

3. RC In order to further enhance DIA's T/CT program the following actions are directed:

   a. RC [redacted] will continue to support DIA on:

      (1) RC The White House Special Coordination Committee on Terrorism and the Interdepartmental Intelligence Committee on Terrorism and other related committees and working groups, as appropriate.

      (2) (U) Continue to publish a daily terrorism summary and other studies as required, in coordination with and

      (3) (U) Provide support to the NMIC IAW JCS CONPLAN 0300.

      (4) RC Absorb three currently authorized personnel spaces dedicated to the terrorism function, as well as programmed terrorism spaces. This element will continue to operate in the NMIC area.
The merger of resources involved in current terrorism production will strengthen DIA's overall current terrorism support capability, thereby enhancing the level of such support we can provide to OSD and JCS. This merger will also provide a rotational base for these personnel. (U) will take action to ensure adequate space in the NMIC area is provided the analysts concerned.

b. (G) will continue to produce general and estimative intelligence on terrorism in the form of political-military studies on a worldwide basis and prepare operational support intelligence for JSOC and others (to be coordinated with JSOC and as appropriate).

c. (U) will:

(1) (G) Continue to publish DIN's on current terrorist related events (to be coordinated with JSOC and DB, as appropriate).

(2) (G) Transfer personnel involved in terrorism functions, both now authorized and programmed, to

(3) (G) Continue as focal point for JCS contingency and operational support on terrorist matters, to include CONPLAN 0300.

d. (G) will continue to be the DIA point of contact for all JSOC intelligence support.

4. (G) A computerized terrorist intelligence data base is needed urgently. and will meet to define the form and direction such data base should take. RS will support this effort. Additionally, will accelerate efforts to computerize its and make it available to DIAOLS users.

5. (U) Specific functions to be performed by elements are listed in attachment. Some duplication of effort is unavoidable. Judgment must dictate the point at which a particular terrorist entity becomes a direct threat to U.S. interests (personnel, facilities, weapons, etc.) and therefore an responsibility, or remains only a factor in the political developments of a foreign nation and therefore a responsibility.

6. (G) The goal of all DIA elements involved in the T/CT function must be to provide:

a. (G) The earliest possible warning for indications of terrorist attack directed against DoD personnel, weapons or facilities.

b. (G) The most thorough, accurate and timely analysis on terrorism as well as on its causes and effects.
