1. Without consultation outside Embassy, would appreciate having your estimate of most likely reaction of government to: (a) Frente Amplio victory in November 28th Uruguayan Presidential elections; or (b) strong Frente Amplio showing in that election but not winning Presidency; or (c) pre-election evaluation that shows increasing strength of Frente.

2. Spate of news stories have appeared in LA press speculating on possible Brazilian plans for action in Uruguay to frustrate Frente from taking over, including use of armed force. Other stories mention joint Argentine-Brazilian action.
3. Embassy Montevideo telegram 2051 giving latest assessment election outcome being repeated to action addressees for information only.

1. Without consultation outside Embassy, would appreciate having your estimate of most likely reaction of government for: (a) Frente Amplio victory in November 28th Uruguayan Presidential elections; or (b) strong Frente Amplio showing in that election but not winning Presidency; or (c) pre-election evaluation that shows increasing strength of Frente.

JOHNSON

2. Spate of news stories have appeared in LA press speculating on possible Brazilian plans for action in Uruguay to frustrate Frente from taking over, including use of armed force. Other stories mention joint Argentine-Brazilian action.