Dear Mr. President:

Yesterday the President of Egypt, General Nasser, made a speech in which he outlined his program for the improvement of the nation. The speech was widely reported in the press and has been well received by the public.

I have been informed that the Egyptian government is planning to construct a new airport in Cairo, which would be a major step forward in the development of the country. I believe that this airport could serve as a model for similar projects in other parts of the world.

I would be grateful if you could provide further information on this matter. I would also be interested in hearing your thoughts on the economic and social implications of such a project.

Sincerely,

Totally un了解到 Is better.

You made it again.

But in this case, I am ashamed.

you have the opportunity of doing something for which all Americans will be grateful. They simply cannot understand that two weeks after you met with our President, the most drastic, and for many, unfriendly measure against Mexico was taken.

Respectfully yours,

Antonio Canales Flores

Secretary for Foreign Relations of Mexico

F. S. Secretary Rogers was especially attentive and sympathetic. But not particularly the authority of yours.
