MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Briefing for HPSCI Staff on Results of "Los Pepes" Panel and on Death of Pablo Escobar

1. On 6 December 1993, ____________ chairman of the blue ribbon panel which had reviewed the Colombian "Los Pepes" (Spanish acronym for "People Persecuted by Pablo Escobar") vigilante group, led a team which briefed HPSCI Staffers on the results of our independent review. In addition to ____________ Panel member ____________ and former ____________ were present. The following HPSCI Staffers appeared: Mike Sheehy, Dick Giza, Chris Healey, Greg Frazier, Cathy Eberwein, and Steve Nelson. The CIA group had briefed SSCI Staffers at Hart Building immediately prior to this session. This 35-minute briefing took place in HPSCI offices in Room H-405 Capitol and ____________ took notes at both the SSCI and HPSCI sessions for a formal MFR.

2. In summary, ____________ provided background on the situation in Colombia and the creation of "Los Pepes," the formation of the panel, and its findings ____________ Attached is a paper on the findings and conclusions of the panel which ____________ used for his briefing. HPSCI staff did not ask for a copy. Both Sheehy and Giza were interested in why this type of panel was created. Giza commented at the conclusion that this issue was "one of the most bizarre stories" he had ever seen, both in how it arose and how it was investigated. He commented that DoD initially had severely over-reacted, but questioned why the PPIAB or some other outside element had not been chosen to look into it.

Our records review

Our review of CIA-held information was extensive:

- To the extent it was available to us, we read State Department "NODIS" and Roger Channel cable traffic related to Escobar.

- We searched for and reviewed additional finished intelligence and memoranda on this topic.

- We reviewed open-source information on Los Pepes and its victims.
What we found

- There is after-the-fact reporting on the kidnappings and deaths of Los Pepes victims from a variety of sources.

- Los Pepes' victims were well-known associates of Pablo Escobar.

What we could not check

- We did not ask the DEA to search its records on their unilateral assets and operations related to the search for Escobar, nor does the CIA keep internal records of DEA operations.

- We do not have complete holdings of State Department no-dissemination and Roger Channel cable traffic.

Background: The "Blue Ribbon Panel"

This paper summarizes the formation, membership, and actions of the Panel that prepared this report.

Genesis

During early November 1993 the Executive Director (ExDir) requested that a "blue ribbon panel" be formed to review information related to the Colombian task force to recapture Medellin narcotics kingpin Pablo Escobar Gaviria. A Colombian extra-legal vigilante group calling itself Los Pepes (People Persecuted by Pablo Escobar) has been assassinating Escobar's associates and destroying his prized properties.

Membership

Each Deputy Director selected a senior (SIS-level) officer to serve on this Panel:

- Senior Liaison Officer, Office of Technical Collection, Directorate of Science and Technology
- Chairman
- Chief of Security Services Group, Office of Security, Directorate of Administration
- Karl Ruyfe, Deputy Director, Office of Near East and South Asia Analysis, Directorate of Intelligence

Duration

The Panel met full-time from 8 November through 3 December 1993.

Products

The Panel produced daily "fact sheets" for the ExDir beginning on 15 November. The final Panel report integrates these fact sheets.
