

TELCON

Amb. Dobrynin/Mr. Kissinger

12:30 p.m., May 25, 1973

D: Hello.

K: Hello, Anatol.

D: Hello, Henry, how are you?

K: Okay, how are you?

D: Today your voice is much more different than yesterday.

K: Well, I must have been a little tired yesterday.

D: Well, so I heard that you were sitting with a very nice girl.

K: (laughter)

D: And I guess I have her picture.

K: Oh, yes?

D: In the calendar. I think she was on this Playboy Calendar.

K: Oh-h-h-h-h, you're a dirty old man.

D: (laughter) Oh, come on, come on. But really I think she was two or three years ago. She's a real nice girl. I don't know how she looks now but at that time --

K: No, she's very attractive. I hope she isn't a nice girl.

D: You were with her, I wasn't. So you are an authority, not me.

K: Well, Anatol, do you want to come by at 5:30?

D: 5:30?

K: Yes.

D: Okay. 5:30, usual place.

K: Right.

D: Okay, Henry. I'll be there 5:30.

K: Right.

D: Bye, bye.
