SECRET

The Mystery of the Cables Continues.....

One of the cables (identified as the "thin" cable) appears to have been stretched to the generator shed and a new "thick" cable may have arrived. However, NPIC isn't sure that the new "thick" cable isn't the same cable as the old "thin" cable - just seen from a different (better) angle !!!!! The "thick" cable is described as being in a zig-zag pattern. Confused yet? Such is life at Drill Site 2. (S)

At Drill Site 3, activity has returned to the previous high levels. Lotsa trucks and folks, some construction equipment, 4-6 unusual small-diameter cylindrical objects, and best of all, a probable television satellite dish. MTV for those long, lonely nights. (S)

Everyhting else is clear as mud. (U)
